Littleton Businesses

The Little Black Chair recently opened for business at 5767 S. Rapp St. Andrea Miner and Annie Sloan have filled their shop with unique décor pieces done in painted finishes along with other decorative objects. They also provide custom painted furniture for clients, and as the Denver Metro area retailer of Chalk Paint, they offer workshops in its use as well. 720.428.8020; www.thelittleblackchair.net

John Perkins, owner of The Flip School, has just opened a new facility close to Broadway and C-470 at 8000 W. Lincoln St. It offers children's birthday parties, field trips, and fundraisers with trampolines, a foam pit, climbing ropes, a spring floor and much, much more. 303.871.0754; www.flipschool.com

Jeff Nordeen and Libby Mueller are the new proprietors of The Chocolate Therapist at 2560 W. Main St. Eventually they will be the first of founder Julie Pech's franchise stores through the unique program she is in the midst of finalizing. Open seven days a week, the shop serves great coffee throughout the day and has more types of chocolates and chocolate-related items than even a chocoholic can imagine. 303.795.7913; www.thechocolatetherapist.com

With each year the number of Littleton businesses making the Denver A-List has grown. Congratulations to the more than 60 businesses that made the list for 2012. All of them are listed at <http://denveralist.cityvoter.com/best/denver/winners>.

Andy and Anne Larsen are holding a grand opening party and ribbon cutting to celebrate the move of Riveting Frame to a larger space and hope to see you there. The celebration will be from 4 to 7p.m. on Thursday, October 18 at 7600 S. Grant St. #A1. 303.703.3900; ali@rivetingframes.com

Other

Renovation is well under way for the vacant buildings at 2670 and 2680 W. Main St. The first was built before 1910 and used by the Blue Ribbon Stables; the second, built in 1929, housed the Bussard Motor Company. New owner Todd Little is planning to turn the approximately 9,000 s.f. into space for restaurants and shops.

A 76-bed residential facility, to be known as Highline Place, is being built at 6767 S. Broadway for Alzheimer's and dementia patients. Anthem Memory Care of Portland, Oregon is constructing the 35,600 square-foot building with plans for an opening date in the second quarter of 2013.

Calendar

HDLM Meeting: 8:00 a.m., Sept. 3, Town Hall Arts Center

Commentary on business, the economy and innovative practices

Denise Stephens, Littleton's new Economic Development Director started with the City last Monday. Denise shares her background and contact information below:

I am the new Director of Economic Development for the City of Littleton, Denise Stephens. Previously, I served as Executive Director for the Jefferson County business Resource Center (JCBCO), which was based on the outstanding business services model developed by Littleton. I feel privileged to be working here in this dynamic community, and I look forward to working with all of you. If you should ever have any questions or comments, please feel free to contact me at dstephens@littletongov.org.

The mission of the Economic Development department is to grow our economy by helping Littleton entrepreneurs be competitive. Call B/IA at 303.795.3749 if we can help.
